To the Orange County Board of Supervisors,

I am sending you this letter and subsequent documentation to formally enter into the record my disapproval of the current operation of government enforcement actions concerning the "Stay at Home Orders" and "Social Distancing Requirements". I am quite concerned about the government response to COVID-19, and the implementation of World Health Organization 'recommendations' as Executive Action.

The United States of America is a Constitutional Republic, a nation of laws, and of representative government. Individual liberty is a fundamental core value of Constitutional precedent. It takes a trial by jury, to take away an American Citizen's liberty. Executive Orders are not tantamount to Constitutional jurisprudence, in fact they are wholly antithetical.

Attached with this letter is a small repository of information. My intent is to encourage the Orange County Board of Supervisors toward actions that will result in lawsuits against rogue State government officials and State Boards abridging the privileges and liberties of its citizens. While this problem extends into the highest offices of government, we expect a degree of protection provided by our local governments to act as a buffer between an unwitting citizenry, and communist style authoritarianism.

This is not something that should be swept under the rug of happenstance and lost to the winds of time. The people of California, specifically Orange County, deserve your help in getting justice for crimes committed against them.

Respectfully,

Cory Brockman
Citizen of Huntington Beach
Sergeant/USMC Veteran
